PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Dear Fellow Adlerians,

As the September Conference draws closer, we look to our August 12th meeting with our "punch-list" in hand for the final countdown. The main skeleton of the conference is all there. There is still a list of things to do to put some "flesh" on the skeleton. The program is varied and offers some new faces and topics. We are excited to have Dr. Eva Dreikurs Ferguson as our keynote presenter. The new NASAP president, Dr. Jill Duba Sauerheber, is one of our presenters. It all looks to be a fabulous show. We still need volunteers to make the magic work. And if you would like to apply for a scholarship, e-mail me at john.arnold@firstsuneap.com for an application. Hope to see you at our August 12th meeting.

Regards,

John Arnold, Ph.D.

President, SC Society of Adlerian Psychology

BI-MONTHLY MEETING

The "program" for this meeting will be final preparations for the Fall Conference. The program will begin at 7:00 p.m. and it will be followed by a brief business meeting. We will meet at Breed Leadership Center, Room 104, at Columbia College.

FALL CONFERENCE

Over 10,000 conference brochures will be mailed to our members list and to lists of mental health professionals in South Carolina and surrounding states. Additionally many of you will receive a copy by e-mail. Finally the brochure is available for view and on-line registration at our web site: www.adleriansc.org This year our Society will provide four full day and six half day workshops on Friday. Saturday we have scheduled sixteen presentations in addition to the keynote presentation. We are honored to have author, researcher and Psychology Professor from Southern Illinois University, Eva Dreikurs Ferguson as our keynoter presenting on "Adlerian Psychology in the Workplace." Eva's husband, Bill Linden, Professor Emeritus of Philosophy, at SIU will offer "Philosophical Foundations of Adlerian Psychology." On Sunday we have scheduled six half day workshops. We are fortunate to have 27 top notch presenters from ten states and Canada as our teachers.

MEMBER RECOGNITION AND ACTIVITIES

During the past year our SCSAP president, John Arnold, was awarded the North Carolina Employee Assistance Professionals Association President's Achievement Award for leadership in the EAP field.

Amazingly, John was also selected as the EAP Member of the Year in South Carolina for the year 2013.

It is also noteworthy that Diane Thompson, one of SCSAP's past presidents, will retire this summer from her distinguished career as Professor and Director of the Social Work Program at Columbia College.

Furthermore, a South Carolina connection to a leading in-service training program in Europe has been established by members Jim Holder, Cindy Walton-McCawley, and Frank Walton, who have taught seminars in Bucharest, Romania for the institute under the direction of Ramona Covrig.

ADLERIAN INTERNATIONAL SUMMER INSTITUTE

This two week institute must be attended to be appreciated for its unique blend of excellent academic opportunities and genuinely delightful fellowship. While it is too late to prepare to attend this summer's program in Canterbury, England, it is exactly the time to prepare to attend next year's institute which will be held in Dublin, Ireland.
