PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Dear Fellow Adlerians

Here's wishing you a most wonderful New Year! What plans do you have for the New Year? Business writer Peter Drucker reminds us that "The best way to predict the future is to create it." This strikes me as an encouraging thought, as it places in our own hands the capacity to continue to re-create and shape ourselves to be more human, more connected, more courageous and exhibit more social feeling. In a bombastic political year where much of the rhetoric promotes and feeds on fear, it seems a great time to let your Adlerian colors show. Encourage someone around you. Remember that equality is the iron-clad logic of social living. There's not a better time to be an Adlerian. Whether you are a counseling professional, a teacher or a parent, live more courageously today.

Regards,

John Arnold, President, SC Society of Adlerian Psychology
