PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Dear Fellow Adlerians

May this note find you well and enjoying the festive Spring weather! I hope you will join us for our April 8th meeting on the campus of Columbia College. Dr. Diane Thompson will offer a brief presentation on working with couples and focusing on their strengths. Come along and bring a friend or colleague. After April, we turn our heads toward the build-up for September and our conference. We'll need lots of helping hands (just like yours!) to make for another successful conference. Keep an eye out for the Call for Proposals. Give some thought to sharing your Adlerian knowledge as it applies to the work you do. Be bold! As Adler said, "The chief danger in life is that you may take too many precautions."

Regards,

John Arnold, Ph.D.
President, SC Society of Adlerian Psychology

BI-MONTHLY MEETING

You have the important information with regard to our Tuesday, April 8 meeting. Dr. Diane Thompson will offer a presentation devoted to working with couples by means of focusing upon their strengths. The meeting will be at the Breed Leadership Center. It is located uphill from the Will Lou Gray Building where we usually meet and slightly to the left. Diane's presentation will be followed by a business meeting. As always, one CE is offered for attendance at the educational program.

IN RETROSPECT

The Florida Conference of Adlerian Psychology was held February 27 to March 1. It seems worth mentioning the event may be one you would like to place on your calendar next year. The presentations are diverse and of good quality. The facilities on the edge of Tampa Bay are attractive, and the members of the Florida group create a nice atmosphere. The Spa at Safety Harbor is a little pricey, but there are quite a few lower priced motels near the conference center in Safety Harbor. The FAS web can be accessed at www.information@adlerflorida.org.

Also looking backward a bit, SCSAP President, John Arnold, gave an attractive presentation comparing Adlerian Psychology with Positive Psychology at our recent meeting. In addition to SCSAP members, the event attracted a dozen students from Columbia College.
